

Why is Lisha now a happy girl?

There is not enough money to buy charcoal to boil and purify water.	Lisha had to walk over 3 hours every day to get fresh water.	It could be dangerous to walk alone, particularly as a girl.
This method of cooking make take much longer than traditional methods but people are free to do what they like while their food simmers in the sun.	The new solar power cooker is known as the "Cookit", and is made of cardboard with reflective silver foil panels on one side.	The local water source is quite dirty and contains Typhoid.
Lisha wants to become a Lawyer for Human Rights when she grows up.	Lisha's mum got a "Cookit" in which pasteurises water.	It can be very dangerous collecting water, particularly on your own.
It is mostly the girls who walk to collect fresh water.	When she was 8, Lisha's dad died because of AIDS.	There is always time to talk in Africa.

